

Land Buying Checklist

BhumiGuide Intelligence · general guidance, not legal advice

1. Before you commit to a property

- ☐ Confirm the seller's name matches the land record extract exactly.
- ☐ Get the survey/plot number and verify it independently on the state land records portal.
- ☐ Ask whether the land is agricultural or non-agricultural (NA) — this changes what you can build.
- ☐ Check the tenure class on the land record — some classes need government permission to sell.

2. Documents to collect

- ☐ Registered sale deed (from the current owner's own purchase).
- ☐ Land record extract (7/12, RTC, Khasra/Khatauni, or your state's equivalent).
- ☐ Encumbrance Certificate (EC) covering at least the last 13–30 years.
Shows every registered transaction, loan, or claim against the property.
- ☐ Previous title deeds — read the ownership chain back at least 30 years.
- ☐ Latest property tax receipt.
- ☐ Aadhaar and PAN of both buyer and seller.
PAN is mandatory above Rs. 5 lakh.
- ☐ Passport-size photos and address proof of both parties.
- ☐ Legal heir certificate, if the seller inherited the land.
- ☐ NA (non-agricultural) conversion order, if you plan to build on farmland.
- ☐ Registered Power of Attorney, if someone is selling on the owner's behalf.
Confirm it is still valid and has not been revoked.

3. Verification steps

- ☐ Cross-check the seller's identity against the land record and the sale deed.
- ☐ Pull the Encumbrance Certificate yourself from the Sub-Registrar office — don't rely only on what the seller shows you.
- ☐ Visit the property in person and compare its boundaries to the survey map.
- ☐ Ask neighbours or local revenue officials if the ownership or boundary has ever been disputed.
- ☐ If buying agricultural land as a non-farmer, confirm your state allows it.

4. At registration

- ☐ Pay stamp duty and registration fee before the registration appointment (use the Charges page to estimate the amount for your state).
- ☐ Both parties and two witnesses must be present in person at the Sub-Registrar office.
- ☐ Carry originals plus two photocopies of every document, for both buyer and seller.
- ☐ Verify every figure on the sale deed (survey number, area, price) before signing.

5. After registration

- ☐ Apply for mutation of the land record in your name — this can take 15–30 days.
Registration makes you the legal owner; mutation just updates the revenue record.
- ☐ Update the property tax record with the local municipal body or Gram Panchayat.
- ☐ Keep certified copies of every document in both physical and digital form.
